

2008 Annual Conference – September 24-25
The Brookings Institution, Washington, DC

Sponsorship Opportunities

Who Attends the Annual Conference:

The APDU Annual Conference provides a forum for public data users, producers, and intermediaries to learn about and discuss data sources and uses, statistical policy, and program plans. It also offers the opportunity for data users to interact with and offer opinions to key statistical policy-makers and program managers.

Why You Should Sponsor:

As an APDU Annual Conference sponsor, you raise your visibility as an important resource to public data users and producers. You have the opportunity to meet new customers and reconnect with current ones. And you have the opportunity to network with key decision makers and employees.

Sponsorship Fee: $1,300

What's Included with Your Sponsorship:

- Inclusion of logo on the APDU Conference website
- Inclusion of logo on on-site signage
- Brief company description in conference booklet
- Reserved exhibit space during conference
- Recognition during opening session of conference (anticipated audience of 75–90 attendees)
- Complimentary registration for 1 representative
- Additional registration for representatives at a 25% discount from the APDU member rate
- Complimentary one-year APDU organizational membership
